SOME FAVOR SQUARE LIGHTS

Nine organizations voted in favor of traffic lights in the square Friday night at a meeting of the Women's Civic Council at the YWCA. The council had asked the women's organizations in the community to express their view on the project.

Organizations which favor lights are: American Legion Auxiliary, Annie Danner Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, Democratic Women's Club, NCCW, PCBL, Soroptimists, St. Francis Xavier Mothers Club and the YWCA. Mrs. Adam Myers and Mrs. Richard Cole, members-at-large, also went on record as favoring the traffic regulation.

To stress the importance of the project Council members are planning to enlist speakers from the Planning Commission and the town Council to discuss the plan. The possibility of a town meeting on the traffic plan was discussed.

The addition of aluminum doors on the front of the Adams County courthouse was discussed. It was decided that aluminum doors would conflict with the present architectural style of the courthouse and would be undesirable.

Mrs. Ellen Buehler explained the function and history of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The next Civic Council meeting will be held April 26.

CBS said it had no comment on the suit.

SET DEADLINE FOR BECK AND HIS RECORDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes indicated today they have fixed a 24-hour deadline for Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president, to comply with a demand for his 1949-55 personal financial records.

With the hearings in recess until Tuesday, committee sources said they intend to subpoena Beck's records unless the Teamsters chief quickly gives them to the committee voluntarily. A similar request for Beck's records went out nearly a month ago.

There have been allegations that union funds were used to pay some of Beck's personal expenses.

In Seattle, Beck said yesterday he hadn't received the committee's new request yet, adding: "I am not taking a position on this until I see what the committee wants and can consult with my attorneys."

Beck said that if his lawyers want him to turn over the records "I will do so in a minute." He said "that depends on whether my attorneys believe my rights are being infringed upon."

The special committee was set up to probe alleged racketeering in both labor and business. So far its hearings have dealt with an alleged plot by West Coast Teamsters officials to take over rackets in Portland, Ore.

Colonel R. E. "Woodie" Myers, a veteran quartermaster officer, has been named chief of the Army's year-old data processing center at the Richmond Quartermaster Depot, Richmond, Va.

Col. Myers, 46, a native of Harvey, Md., has been in the Army's supply organization since he was appointed adjutant in a battalion of the 103rd Quartermaster Regiment in 1940.

He has begun a busy schedule at the unique data processing center which is responsible for the inventory control of the Army's some 20,000 quartermaster supply items stored in 12 depots throughout the country.

Started Career Here

Col. Myers started his military career as a company clerk in the National Guard in Gettysburg in 1931. He was commissioned a second lieutenant and rose to the rank of colonel by 1953.

His duties have included service in Europe in World War II as the 103rd Division's G-4 (supply) officer, with added duties as the division's acting chief of staff.

In 1948 he became the quartermaster of the U. S. Army Forces in Korea, a post he held until he was made director of supply in the Korean Military Advisory Group, where he served until 1950.

Later he served as quartermaster of the Army's European southern area command. In 1955 he was transferred to the Nahbollenbach Quartermaster Depot, Germany, and was assigned assistant to the depot commander for supply operations. He served in that capacity until January 19, 1957, when he was assigned chief of the data processing at the Richmond Depot.

Has Several Decorations

Among his decorations are the French Croix de Guerre with palm, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak

COLONEL R. E. MYERS

Leaf Cluster, the European-African-Middle East Campaign Medal with four battle stars and the Armed Forces Reserve Medal with two ten-year devices.

MISSION GROUP HOST TO GUESTS AT SUPPER MEET

Nearly 50 women were in attendance at the meeting of the Alta Hummer Missionary Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, when members had as their guests other women of the church who do not belong to the society. The evening's events began with a covered dish supper, featuring foods of the Southeastern Asiatic countries, including the Philippines, Thailand, Indonesia, Indo-China and Malaya.

Mrs. William C. Karns said grace and the group sang. Centerpieces on the tables were a Philippine house and a carabao, the domesticated water buffalo.

Southeast Asia proverbs, tucked in the favors, were read during the meal. As those present entered the meeting room they were greeted with placards in the colors of the different Asiatic countries with a "Welcome" sign to join the winter cruise to Southeast Asia territory.

Mrs. Alvin Groft introduced the program, a book review on "The Church in Southeast Asia" by Winburn Thomas and Rajah Marikan. Mrs. George Trump told of the peoples of Southeastern Asia; Mrs. William J. Lippy, about the missions and missionaries there; Mrs. Harry W. Badders, the churches, education and health. As the imaginary cruise approached the equator, a bell was rung by Mrs. Charles E. Tressler, who announced that King Neptune would hold court and everyone received a certificate attesting to this fact. A humorous stunt, in which all participated, took place and a song, with the words a parody to the tune of "America," was sung, with Mrs. Robert V.

Weaver as accompanist. Each member received Southeast Asia napkins with symbols which were explained by Mrs. Henry Barnes and Melinda Karns.

Use Map Puzzles

Each one was given a puzzle map and as the maps were studied and explained by Mrs. Groft, the names of the countries were written in by the individuals. Information concerning the various countries was given as follows: Philippine Islands, Mrs. Dale W. Starry; Thailand, Mrs. James Rhoades; Malaya, Mrs. Robert V. Weaver; Indonesia, Mrs. Paul Bowers; Indo-China, including Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Annam, Mrs. Samuel Renner; Mrs. Paul E. Sykes; Mrs. Fancy 728 showing scale, $12.25.

Mount Climaxes Best Season By Defeating Los Angeles; Sullivan Bows Out With 43

Mt. St. Mary's College rang down the curtain on its best basketball season in history by defeating Los Angeles State 62-72 Friday evening to cop third place in the NCAA small college tournament at Evansville, Ind., as Jack Sullivan closed his collegiate career in a blaze of glory by ripping the cords for 43 points.

Sullivan shattered his own tourney and Municipal Stadium record of 39 points established against Rider College Wednesday with his 14 goals and 15 of 18 free tosses. His output for the three games is 101 points.

The 6-4 bomber winds up his brilliant career with a total of 1,070 points in 32 games this season and a four-year production of 2,617 in 102 contests.

Wheaton Wins Title

Wheaton, Ill., won the tourney championship by drumming Kentucy Wesleyan 89-65.

During the tight first six minutes the lead changed hands 10 times before Bert Sheling, who wound up with 15 points, and Sullivan combined for 14 quick points to put the Mountaineers ahead for keeps.

Jack Marshall opened the game with a goal after which Bill Williams, Sullivan and Sheling led their team to the lead four times. Sullivan rimmed a pair of free tosses as the Mason-Dixon Conference champs took a 13-11 lead and were never headed. Sheling and Sullivan poured through 15 points in the next five minutes as the Mount built up a 28-20 lead and then spurted on five goals by Sullivan for a commanding 51-37 margin at half time.

Los Angeles Sports

Larry Brennen, of Los Angeles, who connected for 35 points, collected four goals as the Westerners trimmed the Mount lead to 58-51 but at that point Sheling netted a corner shot and Sullivan hit for 12 more tallies as Mt. St. Mary's roared ahead 74-63 with only four minutes remaining.

The triumph was a fitting climax to a sensational season for the Mount which was the smallest school to gain the tournament. Under Jim Phelan, the Mountaineers swept to an unprecedented fourth straight Mason-Dixon Conference title and concluded with an overall log of 27-5. They had a 21-game winning streak, longest in the school's history, until upset Thursday by Kentucky Wesleyan.

Phelan Record

During his three years as coach at the Mount, Phelan's teams have compiled a glowing 70-18 record. With the exception of Sullivan, Coach Phelan will have his squad intact for next year.

TIGERS FIND EARLY GAMES ROUGH GOING

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

A contributing factor to the Detroit Tigers' dismal start last season was their lack of hustle in the spring training exhibition games. The Tigers participated in 28 games against major league opposition, winning only eight, losing 19 and tying one.

After the first month of the regular season the Tigers were last in the American League standings and it was a long haul before they started clicking. They finished fifth for the year.

Rookie Manager Jack Tighe was anxious to get his club off to a quick start this exhibition season. "The exhibition games are going to count this year. We're going to play them as hard as mid-season games," he vowed.

Schedule Doesn't Work

It hasn't exactly worked out successfully, however, for Tighe and his Tigers. Detroit routed Boston 10-1 in its opener a week ago, but since then the Tigers have dropped five in a row against five different teams.

Yesterday the batters snapped out of their slump, and the pitching went sour as the Chicago White Sox prevailed 17-12.

Four Detroit pitchers were touched for 16 hits — including a pair of homers by Minnie Minoso that knocked in four runs and round-tripper with two on by Walt Dropo, who had five RBI's.

Chicago landed on starting pitcher Paul Foytack for an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning. Jack Crimian, Hal Woodeshick and Mal Simmons were the other Tigers' mound-men.

Pirates Win Sixth

Bonus outfielder Jim Small drove in six runs with a homer and bases filled triple.

Elsewhere: Pittsburgh posted sixth victory in seven starts by downing Washington 5-1.

Brooks Lawrence pitched five scoreless innings in Cincinnati's 4-3 triumph over Kansas City. . . . Hank Sauer smacked pair of three-run homers and Willie Mays hit one as Giants whipped Cleveland for losers. . . . Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 2-1 scoring winning run in ninth off Robin Roberts. . . . Rain washed out a night game at Miami between Brooklyn and Boston. And the Chicago Cubs beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-2 in the night opener of a three-game series at Los Angeles.

Old Pros Take Tourney Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The "old pros" brushed past the upstart youngsters and were in command going into today's third round of the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament.

Jackie Burke Jr. was the pace-setter with midway mark of 135. Cary Middlecoff and Pete Cooper were putting on the pressure at 136.

Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., who jumped out front with 66s in the first round, were back in the field. Littler was in a five-way tie for fourth with 137 and Casper was in a four-way tie for ninth with 138.

Jimmy Demaret soared to a 74 after his first opening 67 and was well back at 141.

Others within striking distance included Doug Ford of Mahopac, N. Y., Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and Paul Harney of Bolton, Miss. They had 137s. Ford pulled into contention with a fine 66. The others had 68s.

Fernville: For Economical Building

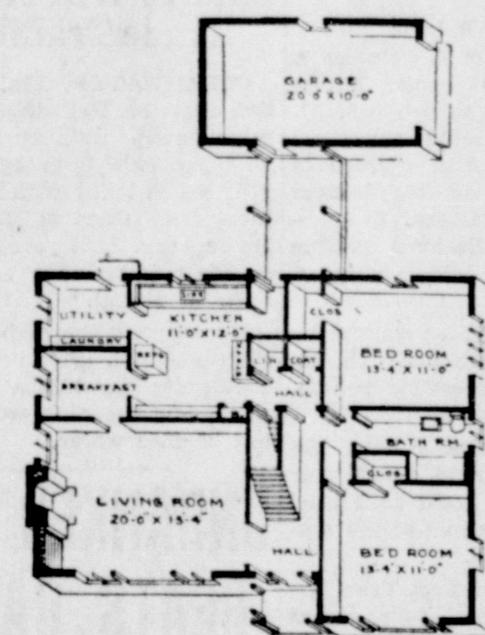

Rooms	Nine
Bedrooms	Four
Closets	Eight
Cubage
House	45,200 ft.
Garage	4,000 ft.
Dimensions	42' x 27'

Called "The Fernville," today's offering from the Home of the Week Plan Service is a design that will always be "in style." And, because it has two floors — the second can be finished at your convenience — this six-room house will meet the approval of many prospective home builders.

With a house of this type the choice of exterior finish largely depends on your preference. Brick, as used in the accompanying illustration, is especially appropriate and attractive. Measuring 42x27 feet, this house can be built on a 65-foot lot and will give you lots of living space in a small area. Cubage is 45,200 feet; garage 4,000.

Both first floor bedrooms — in the right wing of the house — are of good size. Each room features cross-ventilation and plenty of closet space. No dining room proper is provided for in the plan; but one of these bedrooms can be converted into a dining room if you wish — after the second-story sleeping rooms have been completed. Until such time, or permanently, the spacious living room can very conveniently do double duty.

Built-in bookshelves, an abundance of windows, and the large fireplace all lend pleasing decorative touches to the living room.

Thoroughly modern, the kitchen is planned for comfort as well as work. The unusually large breakfast nook can be used for many family meals. Decorative ingenuity can do a great deal to turn this breakfast nook into a charming room where the family will all the more enjoy sitting down for meals

CRUSHED STONE

On The House

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

If you own a house — or plan on buying one — some or all of these tidbits should be of interest to you:

Despite all the publicity on the subject, it's estimated that only one home owner in every 15 has placed informative tags on all the shut-off water valves in the house so that the right one can be located quickly in an emergency.

Several builders in Long Island, New York, are now offering home buyers an iron-clad guarantee of a full refund of their down payment after one year if they are dissatisfied for any reason whatever...

When you move into a new house, don't paint any of the galvanized metal until it has "weathered" for at least six months, although a satisfactory job can be done before that time if the metal is washed with household vinegar...

Money Saver

In having a house built, you can often save money on the cost of the floors by using a cheaper (but just as durable) grade of flooring in rooms where you plan on using wall-to-wall carpeting...

Purchasers of FHA-insured homes are now guaranteed additional protection on their investments by the agency's adoption of new, tighter standards for aluminum windows, including specifications of the Aluminum Window Manufacturers Assn...

Two predictions: "Metal-clad homes in rainbow colors will come into their own this year, representing the biggest change in private home design in 50 years," says M. Jesse Salton, president of a leading producer of porcelain metal panels... and "Electricity will be as commonly accepted for heating homes during the coming 10 years as gas and oil are now," says R. E. Pequinot, a spokesman for electric heating manufacturers.

Break For GIs

In about 2,500 counties in the United States where conventional financing for home modernization is difficult to arrange, the Veterans Administration will make direct, low-interest loans to ex-GIs...

When making a picket fence, the easiest way to get accurate spacing is to use one of the pickets for the purpose: nail a picket to the cross rails, place another picket alongside it, nail the next picket, move the spacer, and so on.

The Department Of Inquiry

Question: I plan on putting down resilient tiles on the concrete floor slab of an extra room we had built recently. I was under the impression that only asphalt tile could be used on such a floor, but a neighbor tells me that vinyl tile also can be placed over concrete in contact with the earth. Can you straighten me out on this?

Answer: For a time asphalt tile was the only acceptable resilient flooring material for concrete floor slabs. However, vinyl asbestos tile is now being made especially for use on concrete. It is important that you get vinyl asbestos... and not ordinary vinyl tile.

Laundry

Your entire home laundry can be installed in the first floor utility room. Plenty of light and ventilation make the utility room a pleasant place in which to work. You'll appreciate the ease with which you can reach the back yard from this room.

Another important feature of this house is the wealth of storage space throughout. A large cedar chest is suggested on the second floor, and the under-the-eaves storage sections are ideal places to keep all types of household articles.

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

DUPONT PAINTS
for every purpose

Prospective home owners — especially the ladies — have made it plain that plenty of closet space is "must" in any house they eventually purchase.

Unfortunately, the willingness of architects to meet this need is of no help whatever to the millions of Americans who have older houses which lack a sufficient number of closets. It is amazing how many old houses, built spacious in every other way, do not have enough closet room. This lack is sometimes met by breaking into walls to build more closets or by constructing or buying closets which sit up in corners or against walls. And sometimes it isn't met at all, the family moving along on a catch-as-catch-can basis, with a merry scramble for space each time guests are expected.

The one solution to the problem which does not involve breaking into the walls or losing floor space is to make more use of the closets you already have.

The ordinary clothes closet has a wooden or metal rod stretched across its width to hold suits, coats, dresses and other garments which are placed on hangers. It has a shelf, also across the width and just a little higher than the rod. And it has a hook or two on the inside of the door. The clothes rod usually is jammed, the shelf is packed with hats, boxes and what-not... and the floor is covered with shoes, rubbers, slippers and a few articles you just didn't know where else to put.

One look at a closet of that sort and you could not help but get the feeling that it is filled to capacity. But the chances are that it has plenty of waste space. For instance, there usually are several feet of space in the closet above the single hat shelf. Put a couple of extra shelves there and you've immediately gained a considerable amount of valuable space. With three shelves, the bottom one can be used for things which you use very often, the middle one for things you need occasionally, the top one for items which are taken down only every few months or perhaps once a year.

Supported By Strips

These shelves can be attached in any one of several ways. The simplest is to attach two strips (Continued on Page 7)

Family Ties Developed In Garden, Experts Say

Tomorrow's leaders are in today's gardens, according to nationally-famous authority on juvenile behavior.

Dr. Lois Higgins, director of the Illinois Crime Prevention Bureau and a former juvenile court probation officer, says gardening provides "precisely the right training for grownup responsibilities which boys and girls must have."

"Activities for young people must fulfill three functions to be constructive," Dr. Higgins says. "They must be physically beneficial, mentally stimulating and opportunity to get closer to their morally and spiritually rewarding. Gardening is just such an activity."

Dr. Higgins also points out that "youngsters interested in an absorbing pastime such as gardening would hardly have time to get into trouble."

Plant More Flowers

A similar viewpoint comes from one of the nation's leading divorce judges, Judge Julius Miner of the Illinois Circuit Court, who thinks husbands and wives should plant more flowers and vegetable seeds and fewer seeds of discontent.

(Continued from Page 6) of wood to opposite sides of the closet and then lay the shelves on the strips. The attachment of the strips to the walls should be strong, but the shelves need be kept in place only with small finishing nails. Or you can screw metal supports into the walls and place the shelves on them.

Small shoe strands, either ready-made or constructed at home, will bring order out of that mixed-up collection of shoes, slippers and rubbers on the closet floor. Incidentally, the chances are that when you sort out the shoes to put them on stands, you'll find two or three pairs that you haven't used for years but just didn't get around to throwing away.

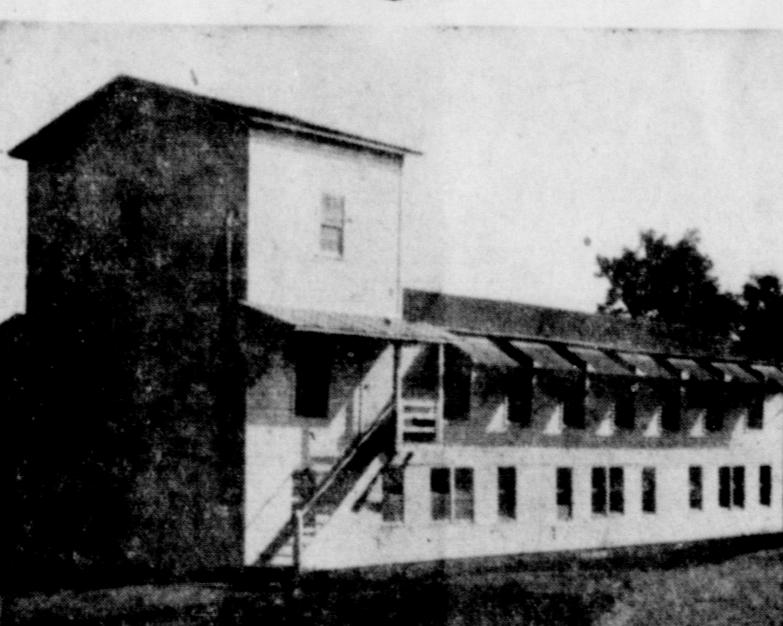

The inside of the closet door, often neglected except for one or two hooks, can be used for hanging ties, hats, trousers, dresses, blouses and many other articles of clothing . . . if the space is properly utilized. These little metal holders that come in so many different sizes and shapes are ideal for this purpose. You can even put narrow shelves on the inside of the door if you have articles that fit on them. Here's one idea along that line for the lady's closet: attach a mirror to the inside of the door at face level, with narrow shelves both above and below the mirror to hold cosmetics. Be sure to put edgings around the shelves so that none of the bottles or other items will slide off.

These additions to the back of the door can be made in most closets without interfering with the clothes. Once in a while, adding shelves or anything else to the door may cause them to brush against the hanging clothes when the door is shut. In that event, you'll notice that there are a few inches to spare at the rear of the closet. Take down the clothes rod and move it back a couple of inches by repositioning the two supports. After that, the door will shut easily without the shelves touching the clothes.

One final note: because of the added weight on the door, eventual sagging can be prevented by adding a third hinge midway between the top and bottom hinges. This gives time for introspective thinking. It also teaches youngsters the mysteries of growing things and they come to know that the life force is a gift from a higher authority."

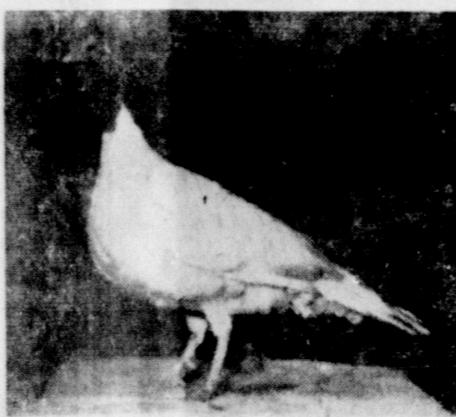

Leadership can be developed when a youngster masters the art of planting seeds and cultivating flowers and vegetables and then passes the information on to other boys and girls in a community garden project.

"The educational possibilities of gardening for young people are unlimited," says Dr. Higgins. "It is a quiet, yet absorbing activity Unique in the area is the Zeigler Brothers "Solar" hen house (top), Gettysburg R. 3, where 2,000 hens are contained in a 30 by 70 house, normally considered space for 1,000 chickens. Glenn W. Heckman, Gettysburg R. 3, in charge of the special chicken house invented by M. LeRoy Zeigler, is shown (next to top) at the start of one of two vertical lines feeding which operate in three 54-foot-long sections. Feed is mixed in the top floor of the building, automatically flows as needed to the two feed lines. Vibration moves the feed along a 54-foot trough, after which it drops to another trough, travels across it, drops to a third and finally ends in a box. Weight of feed in the box automatically starts or stops the flow of feed to the speed at which the birds eat it. The hen house is insulated, has thermopane windows, and air is brought into the structure for ventilation at desired temperatures. The chickens are shown eating at the vertical feeders (center). At bottom are the metal suspended nests in which the hens lay their eggs.

Do's and Don'ts

DO . . . spray outdoors whenever possible and indoors only when there is plenty of ventilation and no flame in the room.

DO . . . hold the gun parallel to the work and at right angles about 6 to 10 inches from the stock, testing first to determine the distance that will result in a smooth finish.

DO . . . pull the trigger just before moving the gun across the work and release it at the other edge, but continue to move the gun until it is past the surface.

DO . . . aim the gun at the bottom of each preceding stroke, a procedure that will insure just the right amount of overlap.

DO . . . use 3-16" or 1/4" thicknesses when applying panels as walls over open framing.

DO . . . space wall framing members no greater than 16" on center. In attaching the panel, nail the center first, edges last. Use finishing nails, countersinking and putting the holes after the prime coat, if you wish.

DO . . . provide solid backing when using panels of 1/8" thickness. In making wall applications of 1/8" thick hardboards or pre-decorated hardboards, use a waterproof tileboard adhesive or a waterproof linoleum cement, spreading with a saw-tooth trowel; use workshop projects, making sure that surfaces are in firm contact until adhesive sets.

DO . . . cut with exposed surface up when using handsaw or table saw and exposed surface down when using portable power saw; a crosscut handsaw and a crosscut or combination blade power saw are recommended.

DO . . . tilt the gun or arc the strokes, faults usually caused by holding the wrist too stiffly.

DO . . . spray furniture or other objects while they are on the floor or ground, as this will disturb settled dust and spoil the job.

DO . . . neglect to cover anything in the room which might be damaged by the inevitable overspray.

DO . . . fail to clean the gun with the proper solvent after each use if you do not want to find it clogged the next time you use it.

DO . . . toenail pressed wood or use it as a nailing base; also avoid nailing into panel edges or closer than 1/4" to the edges.

DO . . . attempt to make compound bends, sticking to simple, one-direction bends which are easily made around a form.

DO . . . force panels into place or but them tightly.

DO . . . use acoustical-type cement or permit adhesive to get on the face of the panel.

Gardening Heads Hobbies Are For King And Executive

American business executives and seeds growing in hotbeds for transplanting in the spring.

The bureau's survey also showed gardening wives who—perhaps just to be different—have a slight preference for vegetable gardens.

Mentally Stimulating

The executives agree with the Duke of Windsor that gardening is mentally stimulating and helps keep the waistline down. However, most garden club members point as a further inducement to the hobby, its material rewards in flowers and vegetables which an entire family can enjoy.

On a small plot, most of the vegetables needed by the average American family can be grown in fewer hours of work than it would take to shop for them in a store.

Real estate authorities say flower gardens and plants invariably add substantially to the value of a house.

There are hidden rewards in gardening, too. For example, by belonging to garden clubs, one not only learns the art through the experience of other members, but also makes social contacts which are rewarding and quite often valuable in business.

Mildewed terminal

Cross section of infected bud

Preventable?...Yes, with KARATHANE WD

The damage caused by powdery mildew on apple terminals is illustrated above. Had this orchard received KARATHANE sprays during the previous season this infection could have been prevented. It would not have had a chance to develop and overwinter on the dormant tissues. When infected buds break in the spring the mildew fungus spreads to young leaves, blossoms and twigs. In orchards with a history of powdery mildew, protection with KARATHANE should begin in early spring—to prevent the spread of infection. In orchards without a record of powdery mildew infections the treatment with KARATHANE should begin as soon as mildew appears. In KARATHANE you have an effective mildew fungicide. When correctly applied, it is harmless to foliage, blossoms and fruit. In addition, KARATHANE will help keep mite populations under control. Ask your dealer for more information on KARATHANE. It is recommended by many Agricultural Experiment stations.

Powdery mildew fungi are difficult to wet. To improve wettability by KARATHANE sprays add TRITON B-1956 spreader-sticker.

Adams County DHIA Reports To Be Handled By Electronic Machines Starting April 1

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

A new era in the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association program began the first of this month. That was when DHIA herds in nine counties began having their monthly testing reports calculated by electronic data processing machines at the Pennsylvania State University. A full 700 herds in these nine counties: Bucks, Cambria, Columbia, Crawford, Lehigh, Luzerne, Northampton, Perry, and York, are the first in the state to have their records calculated on high speed equipment. Next month, Adams County will go over on this system.

The counties involved start on the program as they began their new testing year in 1957. When the local boards of directors in the remaining fifty counties having DHIA programs approve the electronic system, these remaining counties will start on the new setup, when they begin their testing year during 1957.

Will Revolutionize Testing

The new system will completely revolutionize the DHIA testing work, after some forty years of relatively little change. It will pave the way for a much more efficient operation, allowing many additional herds in Pennsylvania to be tested with existing personnel. As a dairyman, you will receive many benefits.

Your records will be more accurate. At present, the human factor is involved in calculations, and errors do creep in. With electronic machines, the correct answer will result, as long as the basic information is reported correctly. All reports will be printed and easy to read, compared to handwritten reports which in many cases are hard to read.

The new system will result in complete reporting of all lactation records. It will be of greater value to you as a breeder, and to ABC units, with every lactation listed. And the records will be concise. Without turning a page, you as a DHIA member will be able to com-

Farming is an art embodying many skills. With such modern machinery on the farm, and with the infinite variations of standard machines needed to fit them for use on particular farms, many farmers have set up welding shops—along with the carpenter shops and other shops that are to be found in more or less completeness on all farms. Here a small, easily constructed shed, serves as a handy place for tools including the welding equipment shown in use.

pare records for as many as twenty-six cows for a particular month and for the lactation. That's because each page contains complete data for up to 26 cows.

Rotation Helps Corn Yields

There is no substitute for a good crop rotation, including a legume-sod turned down at regular intervals. Intelligent use of lime, manure and commercial fertilizer is very important for both the cash crops and the soil building crops in the rotation. Corn usually follows a hay sod, and the better the sod turned under, the better the yield of corn. Corn likes a deep, well drained soil with high fertility levels.

Be sure to plant hybrids which are adapted to this section of the state, and select hybrids resistant to insects and diseases.

For very shallow soils where drought damage may be severe, aim at a plant population of 12,000 plants per acre. For deep, moist soils, having very high fertility levels, aim at a population of 18,000 plants per acre. To do good work the planter must have the proper plates for the grade or size of seed to be used.

Test Is Best Guide

A complete soil test is the best guide to follow in determining the amount and kind of fertilizer to use. Soil test mailing kits including instructions for taking a soil sample can be obtained from our office located in the courthouse in Gettysburg. The kits sell for one dollar each.

Plant rows across the slope (on the contour) instead of up and down hill. A contour strip layout pays big dividends not only for corn but all crops in the rotation and has many desirable features. Plant corn about 1 1/2" to 2" deep.

Do not cultivate too deep or too close to row. If weeds are a problem,

EVERYONE IN NEW YORK IS IRISH TODAY

By RAY O'KOHN

NEW YORK (AP) — New York turns green today and everyone is Irish. For this is it: the big St. Patrick's Day parade up emerald-striped Fifth Avenue.

Kelly, Kohn, Kosciusko or Kirsch, what does it matter? Stick an "O" in front of them and they all spell fun, music and good fellowship.

The big procession — featuring bands, pipers, shamrocks, jigs, green flags and pretty colleens — starts at 44th Street at noon and goes north to 96th Street.

Dublin Mayor There

Francis Cardinal Spellman will review the festivities from the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Robert Briscoe, the Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, will be in the official reviewing stand with Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

When the two met yesterday, Wagner told Briscoe: "As mayor of the world's largest Irish city, I welcome the mayor of the world's second largest Irish city."

Replied Briscoe in his pure Irish brogue: "Inasmuch as Dublin is older than New York, I would say we're breaking even."

Sheahan In Hospital

John J. Sheahan, who has managed Manhattan's annual St. Patrick's Day parade for 22 years, will be absent from the reviewing stand for the first time today.

Sheahan is in Lenox Hill Hospital with a pleural condition and will view the proceedings on television.

Sheahan said he was glad Briscoe was here for the occasion, adding:

"It shows the broad-mindedness of the Irish people. Briscoe was elected lord mayor and he comes from a district that is 98 per cent Roman Catholic. There are only 2,000 Jews in Dublin."

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP) — The AEC said Friday the core of a test atomic power reactor exploded during testing on Feb. 12. No one was injured, but the power unit was destroyed.

The reactor core — in essence a stripped down model of a power reactor — was, because of its "naked" nature, whimsically dubbed "the godiva."
